

Zinc Plus™ for Men

Here at Dynamite, we continually review our products to make sure they are the best we can offer. In doing so, we have made another exciting ingredient change to Zinc Plus™ for Men – that became effective in May 2007.

ZINC ARGINATE

Targeted to the prostate, zinc arginate has been shown to increase zinc levels in the male reproductive organs more than other forms of zinc. The delivery of zinc directly to the prostate tissue can help reduce the size of an enlarged prostate, among other things.

In addition, the added arginine – an important immune system nutrient and a powerful circulatory stimulant with a wide range of benefits. This free-form extract is incorporated utilizing pure amino acid chelates and contains nitric oxide, an important nutrient for prostate health, as it may retard the growth of tumors and cancer. Just some of the benefits this ingredient plays a role in include:

- Improves immune response to bacteria, viruses & tumor cells
- Promotes wound healing by repairing tissues
- Crucial role in the regeneration of the liver
- A key component in the release of growth hormones
- Promotes muscle growth
- Improves cardiovascular functioning

NITRIC OXIDE

Another huge role for this amino acid is that cells use it to make Nitric Oxide, which is extremely important for cardiovascular health. Nitric Oxide helps blood vessels remain open and blood to flow more efficiently and smoothly throughout the body.

As we age, natural production of Nitric Oxide in the body decreases, which increases health risks for those with diabetes, high cholesterol, high blood pressure and more.

Also, one of the main physiological causes of impotence, or erectile dysfunction, is the inability of the blood vessels in the penis to dilate enough to allow blood flow and engorgement. What would be the most important chemical involved to help this process? It's Nitric Oxide!

And that's just the beginning of the incredible ingredients included in Zinc Plus™ for Men. Intrigued after attending a world-wide conference on the power of mushrooms and hearing how ancient cultures viewed mushrooms as one of the most powerful medicines nature had to offer, Jim Zamzow spent the last five years researching and studying hundreds of species. He made some amazing discoveries and ended up developing our one-of-a-kind Immune Enhancing Mushroom Extract Blend. Using five different types of mushrooms, he created a cutting-edge product to incorporate into Zinc Plus™ for Men.

MUSHROOMS

- Two of the features which make the natural form of Cordyceps (cordyceps sinensis) very difficult to harvest are that it is found only in the mountainous regions of China and Tibet at elevations in excess of 10,000 feet, and it grows on the backs of caterpillars until it dies and the mushroom sprouts from the caterpillar's head. This has kept the traditional Chinese medicine (used to stimulate the immune system and maximize body oxygen uptake) a little-known secret for centuries. But the recent discovery of in-vitro production (grown in a lab) makes it much more readily available.

- Maitake (grifola frondosa) means "dancing mushroom" in Japanese, as they were said to dance with joy upon discovery, due to the value placed on this mushroom. The Reishi (ganoderma lucidum) mushroom grows mainly on dead or dying trees and has been used in Japan and China for thousands of years, making it the oldest mushroom known to have been used as medicine. Both of these mushrooms have been reported to significantly inhibit the growth of cancer cells.

- Mainly found in Brazil, the Himematsutake (agaricus blazei) mushroom – also known as "God's Mushroom" – is heralded for its health-promoting properties and has purported strong anti-tumor properties making it popular in the potential treatment for cancer.

- The most popular medicinal mushroom, the Shiitake (lentinula edodes) has been shown to have the ability to fight tumors and viruses and enhance the immune system.

AND MORE!

Three of the other additional extracts found in Zinc Plus™ for Men provide a natural source of fatty acids and beneficial plant sterols known to support the male reproductive system. They also maintain optimal lipid and hormone levels for males. Used for centuries by Seminole Indians, Saw Palmetto is grown in the swamps of Florida. This berry extract contains beta-sitosterol, which can help the prostate, inflamed joints, the immune system, fatigue and much more. Pumpkin Seed Extract is rich in zinc itself, as well as containing necessary fatty acids to help keep the prostate healthy and working normally. And the bark from the African prune tree gives us the extract of Pygeum Africanum containing several compounds thought to be helpful in prostate health.

Even if you have no symptoms and think you're completely healthy right now, chances are you have some degree of a prostate health problem. Zinc Plus™ for Men is the breakthrough solution to bring your prostate back to health and keep it that way!

Be proactive with your prostate – men who are over 30 should not wait another day to start using Zinc Plus™ for Men!
